to the city at an early hour. Many of the most prominent stables in the country will be represented, and the jockey club has spared neither time nor money to make the meet a complete success, and to cate for the country of those prizons who may attend. Steeplechases will be a feature of the meeting, and the card for each day includes many well known horses.

During the first three days of the meeting the starting gute will be dispensed with and those who favor the old flying start will be given an opportunity to commend the method. The card for Thanksgiving Day, the closing day of the meet, includes the Washington.

Christian Association, the cold team of the bowled in the sport, who roundly applauded the "Colts" when they completed their duable victory over the champions.

The bowling was almost devoid of Lrilliant work. In the second game the Corrolls showed some of their old-time form and won handily.

The card today at Bennings is an exceptionally good one, and, as the horses have been brought together is good shape, through the weights, the contents ought to be close and exciting. The track, never a fast one, is as good as it can be under an an extended by the jockey club in putting the course in first-class condition. Despite the amount of careful preparation, however, the track is slow and no such time as that made at Shripehvad Bay or Morris Park for curresponding distances can be expected. To win at this meeting horses will have to be on eight particularly for the first few days, as the track is very suft and deep.
